A MESSAGE FROM PRESIDENT NGUYEN

Wishing you a most safe, prosperous and healthy New Year. I am humbled and extremely honored to assume the role of President for the next two years. Thank you, everyone for entrusting me with your vote of confidence. I am also deeply grateful to my predecessor, Olivia Adrian, for her leadership and outstanding contributions. I am inspired by her commitment to our organization.

Before sharing some aspirations for my tenure, I believe it is safe to say that this past year has been challenging for us collectively as a nation, and individually as Federal employees and FAPAC members. The COVID-19 pandemic has changed the way we live and work. We are now operating in a workspace where remote work is the new normal, and employee-employer trust, mobility, training and career development issues, have moved from the margins to mainstream.

Now more than ever, our members need and deserve resources to excel and navigate in our ever-changing world of work. I anticipate that this national crisis will fundamentally alter how we engage with each other, setting the stage for unprecedented opportunities. To seize on these opportunities, you have my commitment that FAPAC will be here to support you every step of the way.

With your support, we will build on FAPAC’s mission to promote equal opportunity and cultural diversity for AAPIs within the Federal and District of Columbia governments. We will encourage the participation and advancement of AAPIs in the government workforce by serving as a conduit through which the interests, issues and representation of Asian Americans and Pacific Islanders in the Federal, State, County, City and District of Columbia governments are addressed.

We will continue to manage with a forward-thinking view by creating value through stronger partnerships with the public and private sectors to pave the way for our current members and those who will come after us. Here is a snapshot of what you can expect:

- Increased communication: In this new virtual workspace, you will be hearing a lot from us through Zoom and other social media outreach.
- Concise information: Leverage our online and newsletter activity to ensure that you are getting information you need.

- Increased membership: Conduct major membership drives to reconnect or introduce FAPAC to more professionals, educators, and students.
- Expand and develop: Identify unique ways to grow our chapters and help members to potentially progress in their careers. Develop an enhanced student outreach program to feed the pipeline of preparing AAPI college students to consider public service and be the next generation of federal government agency leaders.
- Virtual Outreach: Continuously hold our annual National Leadership Training Program virtually during the month of May, as we celebrate Asian Pacific American Heritage. For this, we will encourage members to volunteer and be part of the successful event.
- Networking Opportunity: It is a wonderful opportunity to learn new skills, meet new people, and network.

I am excited and looking to lead FAPAC toward the next two years with optimism. FAPAC is known for taking care of its members, and it is that kind of care that has sustained us for the last 35 years. I am strong believer that there is a light at the end of this tunnel, and with your support, I am committed and will continue to do our best to take care of our members and ourselves. Together, we will continue to succeed. I look forward to working with every one of you, and I am so glad that you are part of our FAPAC family.

Sincerely,

Peter Nguyen
FAPAC National President

The event was closed by a closing remark from Ms. Vi Baluyut, FAPAC former President, 1988-1989. Quoted “so, to those outgoing officers, I say, congratulations for a job well done. And for the incoming officers led by Peter Nguyen, I say, and here let me quote the late Senator Ted Kennedy, “The work goes on…The cause endures…The hope still lives…And the dream shall never die”
Olivia Adrian, FAPAC Immediate Past President and Dr. Richard Nakamura, former Director of the NIH Center for Scientific Review and a Co-Chair of the FSP Advisory Board, were invited to provide the opening remarks during the “closing ceremony for the 2019-2020 Cohort of the Federal Asian Pacific American Council’s (FAPAC) Future Star Program (FSP). FSP is a tuition-free program that pairs Asian American Pacific Islanders (AAPIs) students with senior government through mentorship. FSP aims to assist next generation AAPIs to identify federal, state, and local government youth internship opportunities, training, or volunteer opportunities; improve their communication and interview skills; and develop a comprehensive leadership experience. FSP hopes to help attract the best and talented young generation of AAPI leaders into the 21st century public service workforce, improve workforce diversity, and to serve the American people. During the ceremony, a video was played that was put together by the FSP Fellow class. This video reflects the feelings of the fellow class and highlights key aspects of their program journey.

Among the distinguished guests are: Dr. Qiao Bobo from the US Food and Drug Administration, Division Director at the FDA, Dr. Dar-Ning Kung, the Assistant Director for Information Assurance at National Institutes of Health, Perry Chan. Perry is a Senior Program Coordinator for the Asian American Health Initiative at the Montgomery County Department of Health and Human Services main topic was “integrity”, Dr. Yihong Ye, a senior investigator at the National institutes of Health, main topic was “community”.

Mr. Peter Nguyen, FAPAC newly elected President, presented the Certificate of Completion to the following cohorts: Order of certificates: Jack Bobo, Caleb Kim, Helen Qian, Robert Sun, Hudson Tao, Flora Ye, Paris Ye and Tess Yu. Closing remarks was presented by one of the FSP Program Directors, Kelvin Xu. Kelvin is the President of the Health & Human Services Parklawn chapter of FAPAC.
The first-year program was successfully carried out from October 2019 through September 2020. We are currently accepting the applications for the second cohort. The program is anticipated to run from July 2021 to August 2022.

The FSP is a tuition-free program that offers high school AANHPI students pairing with senior government employees (GS14 equivalent or above) in federal, state, or local government through mentorship. There will be monthly communication with minimum four face-to-face meetings in a year. Fellows are responsible for fulfilling all components of the FSP for successful completion of the program, which includes a community project with all the fellows in the same cohort. Both mentors and mentees should reserve a minimum of 12 hours of individual mentoring sessions. Optional workshops may be provided. The mentor will provide practical mentorship and career development advice for the AANHPI students and assist them in overcoming significant barriers to attain career development opportunities (e.g., internship, summer training camp) in competitive environments. The mentors will also demonstrate typical public service environment to the students, and help the student set higher career goals. The FSP will conclude with a Certificate of Future Star from FAPAC after one year and the opportunity for competing for FAPAC Future Star award presented in May AANHPI Heritage Month.

Topics covered by include the following, but are not limited to:

- How to find a government internship?
- How to communicate effectively?
- How to write & improve your CV?
- How to stand out in an interview?

FAPAC held the first ever virtual graduation ceremony to recognize its 2020 CDP graduates on November 13, given the Covid-19 pandemic that began around March 2020. FAPAC’s CDP for High Performers is an effort in support of the Federal government’s vision to achieve and maintain a diverse, inclusive, and high performing workforce. It seeks to provide members and participants with a career development experience that opens up different pathways of learning and growth within their organizations while encouraging participants to practice their leadership responsibilities and to address their interest for career development through FAPAC. Fourteen participants graduated from the program.

CDP 2020 Virtual Graduation

Dr. Phuong Callaway, Program Committee Chair for 2019-2020 delivered the Opening Remarks, Mr. Peter Nguyen, FAPAC President, 2020-2022, delivered the Welcoming Remarks, the Keynote Speaker was Ms. Olivia Adrian, FAPAC President, 2016-2020, and Mr. Somnath Bhattacharyya of the 2020 CDP Committee delivered the Closing Remarks. Ms. Fahmida Chhipa, FAPAC Vice President, 2020-2022, served as Mistress of Ceremony for the entire ceremony. Three CDP alumni shared their CDP experience and encouraged the 2020 CDP graduates to stay connected with FAPAC to share their knowledge and skills to support AAPI communities and to network with FAPAC CDP alumni for broadening their career development and advancement opportunities within the Federal government. The virtual event was well attended by the graduating CDP class of 2020, facilitators and training consultants, family and friends of program participants.
